Mathew Kenneally for Parliament?

Kenneally Outlines Succession Plan

Federal election candidate Mathew Kenneally today outlined his succession plan, on the presumption that he will make it into Parliament at the upcoming election.

"I hereby pledge that if the Australian people see fit to elect me, I will resign from political life entirely, no later than half way through my first week in office."

"The Australian people deserve a timeline on matters such as these. I certainly wouldn't want to overstay my welcome."

Asked why people should vote for him if was going to resign so quickly, Kenneally became firm. "Three days is certainly enough of a commitment to warrant the allocation of a lifetime superannuation payout! Sorry, what was the question?"
